

IF IT HAPPENS
IT'S HEREBIKE RIDERS
GO THE LIMIT

Heels and Head Work in Harmony and Great Race Results.

IS NOT A ONE-MAN AFFAIR

BUT FIGHTING COMBINATIONS
WORK OUT TO GRAND FINISH.

Great contests in a sporting line just happen. One may drop a contest on past performances and think it should be a struggle worth going miles to see, but when the event comes off it falls flat. Some little incident turns the odds in favor of one side or one contestant and the lucky end of the argument is returned an easy winner. This is true in bicycle races as well as other sports. Last night it just happened. That time worn phrase, "It was the greatest bicycle race ever seen on the historic saucer track," grows monotonous to the average reader and cycle fan, but it is no more than justice to the two-mile handicap event and the riders who made it so, to say that this race certainly belongs in this class.

It is true that every effort was made to make it a great race, but it is also true that the combinations and individual efforts were so evenly balanced that the outcome saw a dozen well trained athletes extend themselves to their limit of speed in proportion to their ability. Iver Lawson, the great, went all in as well as the poorest meat ticket sprinter of the limit bunch. The speed of the two men were different, but when the mighty crowd quit its cheering, the great Lawson, winner though he was, was fighting it out with a dying effort against men in the same physical condition.

Not a One-Man Race.

It was not a race where the spectacular effects of Lawson's sprint electrified a crowd. It was not a race where one man showed out above his competitors like a bright and shining star, a cloud dimmed sky. No individual can be picked from that bunch of fighting bike riders and given a glaring headline as a mighty man of the wheel. But with full credit to the winner, the slowest dub on the track who gamely went all in to do his allotted share of work, must the praise be given in passing out the honor due in making it a cycling event long to be remembered in Salt Lake's cycling history.

With $100 in shining gold as the goal of their efforts, the speed and brains of the saucer track have for the past week built plans to capture the trophy. It was the weak against the strong, with a few daring individuals who throw themselves into any struggle for wealth and glory, trusting to their luck to land the prize. The strong won out, but their confidence in their own ability came near losing to the weaker but a more numerous combinations.

Back Bunch Combine.

Floyd McFarland's fine Italian hand secured himself, Iver Lawson, to win the race. Iver fell by the wayside and McFarland followed, but the great strength of Lawson served him to the finish and the winner of a world's championship won by inches. The matter has been placed for action in the hands of August Hermann, of Cincinnati, chairman of the National Baseball commission.

The combination, made up of some eight or ten limit men, picked Clark to beat Lawson and used their every effort to push the speed Australian over the tape first. They were not successful, but Williams and Palmer of the combination got second and third and showed the great Lawson what it means to fight it out with fresher men within a few feet of the tape.

Some Were on "Pat."

Of the back mark men, Downing and Fogler were riding on their past. Mixed with the Lawson-Pye-McFarland combination these two buccaners on the racing highway went alone and with watchful eye were ready to pounce upon any mistake of the two big combinations to slip in for the money. The combines made no mistake and the opening for this pair did not come up.

At the crack of the pistol McFarland started with Lawson on to catch a quickly formed bunch of limit men over half way around the track. Pye waited and as McFarland and Lawson came up, the three started with Downing and Fogler taking advantage of the pace. With machine line precision race was changed while lap by lap flew from under their wheels. The head men, well organized, did not wait for the usual system of alternating pace, but used a man until he was all in, and then dropped by the wayside as he was of no further use to the flying bunch.

Iver Has to Help Himself.

As the back men did not gain fast enough, Iver Lawson, the man being carried by Pye and McFarland for the final sprint, was called upon to help himself to the front. Lawson began to take laps in turn and the efforts of his powerful kicks began to tell. At the end of the first mile there was still some distance to go, and Pye resorted to the last card of a "pulling" bicyclist rider, that of being "all in."

A Fatal Error.

Here the limit bunch made their one error, that of allowing Jack Burris to go three laps. It was too much for Burris and his last lap slowed the leaders as the exhausted Pye came up on the tail enders. With still five laps to go, McFarland saw it was useless to consider himself in the finish and, like Pye, used his last kick to get Lawson up to the front. Lawson's two laps from home McFarland turned the tired Lawson loose at the same instant the front bunch allowed Clark to go. It was these two who were to fight it out for first place, and neck and neck they traveled the next lap. Then Clark failed, but Williams and Palmer of the leaders were not ready to quit and came up and challenged Lawson to the tape. Williams and Lawson finished inches apart, with Palmer hanging on Lawson's wheel.

Time Away Under Record.

In the mix-up Palmer was placed second, but Williams did not make the time. The time was 3:41 for two miles, a record.

UMPIRE HAS GOOD SYSTEM

Bets on Ball Games and Then Sees That the Right Team Wins.

Minneapolis, July 27.—Formal charges that Umpire Owens deliberately placed bets on the Minneapolis-Columbus games, the latter to win, for the benefit of a gambling combine in which he is interested, have been preferred by Secretary Liddard of the Minneapolis Baseball association. This is the result of decisions which provoked riotous demonstrations at American association games here last week.

The Minneapolis management has secured affidavits from three well-known gamblers that they had an understanding with the umpire, whereby they advisedly bet on Columbus. One affidavit states that on the occasion of the game of July 18, he put up money and paid a commission of 25 per cent to the umpire. Two other affidavits swear that they put up $200 Owens' money who gave them a commission of 25 per cent for placing it. The matter has been placed for action in the hands of August Hermann, of Cincinnati, chairman of the National Baseball commission.

Salt Lake's Aerial Trick.
A. E. Williams, a former Salt Lake boy, has perfected a bicycle trick in midair which, it is said, is a daring feat. Williams calls it the great suicide trick. It consists of riding a bicycle off a platform seventy-five feet in the air into a pool of water. Williams passed through Salt Lake yesterday from the coast, where he has been performing and is going to St. Louis, where he is booked to do the trick.

Detroit, Mich., July 27.—Rain interfered after one heat at Windsor and caused the postponement of the finishing race until tomorrow. Lake Queen beat Lady Call Hamilton through the stretch in the fourth, which was unfinished on the previous day. Time—2:20. No other starters.

ord by over six seconds, and a race was finished that will long be remembered. But there were others, that are far above the average of bicycle racing. The five-mile amateur lap race saw Hume and West put up a fighting finish. West won and the crowd yelled its approval. And again, the mile amateur saw the elongated Hume finish two seconds under world's record time. In 1:55 3-5, after making as game a ride as seen this season.

NOW PARK CITY IS AFTER OGDEN

Summit County Team Thinks There is Something Wrong In Division of Receipts.

(Special to The Herald.)
Park City, July 27.—Trouble has arisen over the game in Ogdan last Tuesday between the Park City and Ogdan league teams. The Park City management declares there are several unsettled things, the most noticeable of which is the gate receipts. The Park City team says it has a kick coming in the premises, and it is not at all unlikely that President H. O. Shepard will have the matter to decide. Park City was scheduled in Ogdan after playing two games in Eureka on Sunday and Monday. The train was late and the Park team did not get into Ogdan until after the game was scheduled to begin. When they did get on the grounds they found that there was a fair crowd. Park City fans estimate the number at about 500. It is said, this amount of enthusiasm, it is said, the Ogdan management offered twelve 25-cent tickets. The local management kicked in and in a short time, it is alleged, the twelve tickets offered was raised a few, and again raised until it numbered seventy-five. The locals refused to settle at all on the basis offered. The game was then played, and it is history how things went along. Now it is claimed, the twelve tickets made by the Ogdan management to settle the financial end of the matter of July 24, and more money is offered. The present offer to settle at all on the basis is claimed, and the matter is to be taken up with the league president.

Curtis comes Eureka comes Eureka Sunday with an excursion from that town. This will enable the fans of that city to see one of the games and get back home. The second game will be played Monday. While the local boosters of the team are still loyal, they all begin to feel that there is some sort of hoodoo hanging on the basis offered. Fans here believe there is absolutely no question but that the present lineup is the best team in the state league. But for some reason they can't win a game. It is hoped that Sunday things will be shaped differently and that Park City will begin to get into the big end of the game again.

MEETING CALLED TO FORM A. A. U.

University of Utah Asked To Send Delegates In Connections With Other States.

(Special to The Herald.)
Logan, July 27.—Congressman Howell deep sea to be between the devil and the deep sea on the Agricultural college question, and despite his strenuous efforts to the local political storm is in prospect. Howell came home prepared to make a straight declaration in favor of the Agricultural college, and when interviewed he made it, but it was so strong that after a time college supporters began to suspect that the aforesaid strength was injected to make up for a lack of sincerity.

They soon discovered that in talking for the Tribune Mr. Howell had hedged and had declared in favor of "restriction, retrenchment, and the curtailment of ambitious officials," generalities of course that may mean much or little, according to the interpreter. To The Herald correspondent he said the college had always lived within the law, and he intimated that the federal government would put its foot on any proposition looking to the further elimination of studies at the college, but to the Tribune he said exactly the opposite thing.

Perhaps here, in something of a quandary over these conflicting statements, but Howell had been put at the head of a committee chosen to carry on the Agricultural college campaign, and hence criticism was stilled. Then news of statements made by Howell to Salt Lake politicians and now members of it are saying, arousing many suspicions as to Joseph's loyalty. But the thing that has caused the greatest trouble is Howell's refusal to call his committee together.

For a week or more the members of the A. A. U. prominent men have been urging that they are ready and anxious to begin work, but Howell has failed to heed these urgings and now members of it are saying unkind things, and intimating that Howell will call the committee together when he gets permission to do so. College people are recalling the statement of The Herald that the "machine" is against the institution, and the statement is becoming more firmly fixed in their minds with every new turn that the controversy takes.

Tomorrow, the Logan Journal will make a public demand upon Howell for an explanation of his queer conduct, and in the event of his failure or refusal to give it, will insist upon his resignation as chairman of the committee. That the Smoot machine will direct the college campaign is certain if Howell remains at the head of the committee, and that is a greater part of its work will tend to discredit President Kerr, rather than to help the college, are opinions that are obtaining wide circulation here. Howell is unable to hide his enmity toward Kerr at any time, a fact that men point to as a proof of his utter subservience to the machine, for until his connection with Smoot, et al, he was a friend and uncompromising supporter of Kerr.

It is an open secret here that not only "If you cannot send delegates, please designate three persons, members of the A. A. U., Denver, to act as your representatives."

LONGWOOD COURT RESULTS

Clothier and Larned Both Reach Finals in Tennis Doubles.

Longwood, Mass., July 27.—Two matches in singles and three in doubles were played in the Longwood tennis tournament today and the expected happened in each contest.

The survivors in the singles were H. H. Hackett and E. B. Alexander of New York, who will meet William J. Clothier of Philadelphia and W. A. Larned of Summit, N. J., for the eastern championship tomorrow. The former pair won a year ago at Longwood. In the singles tournament for the Longwood cup W. J. Clothier and Karl H. Behr of New Haven are left to fight for the honor of championing W. A. Larned, the present holder of the cup. This match will be played Monday owing to Mr. Clothier's engagement in the doubles tomorrow. The challenge match will be played Tuesday.

Clothier was the only one who had difficulty in winning today. In his matches with E. B. Dewhurst, the latter captured the first set, a fourteen game contest. Clothier took the second without allowing Dewhurst a game. The third and fourth sets were well fought but Dewhurst could not break through and Clothier won out.

HUNT IN DOUBLES FINALS

Western Tennis Championship Will Be Decided at Chicago Today.

Chicago, July 27.—Play in the western tennis championship at the Kenwood Country club courts reached the finals in both doubles and singles today. Hunt of California lost to L. H. Waldner today, five sets being necessary. Hunt won the first two sets, but went to pieces after that, Waldner taking the fourth and fifth sets rather easily.

Today's summary:

EUREKA GOING IN FORCE

Two Hundred Fans Will Accompany Team to Root at Park City.

(Special to The Herald.)
Eureka, Utah, July 27.—About 300 local fans will go to Park City next Sunday to see the local bunch play Park City. Reid will pitch in the first game for Eureka and the betting here is that Eureka will capture two straight games. The management and Captain Lumley are entirely satisfied with the team as it stands today, especially with their "inside" work. At the beginning of the season a good deal of trouble was experienced in securing a good pitching staff and the in-field was in a most unsatisfactory condition. Captain Lumley states now that there is no reason why Eureka should not be the winners of the pennant as all of these difficulties have been overcome.

Mr. Howell, but also his estimable wife and family, have been completely smitten by the glamour of official life at Washington, and all are exceedingly anxious to return there. The congressman's opponents make much of this, asserting that he will do anything, make any sacrifice, or obey any demand in order to secure a re-election.

PETITION AGAINST SESSION.

Committee at Work in Interest of Agricultural College.

(Special to The Herald.)
Logan, July 27.—A committee representing the Agricultural college interests is at work on a counter petition or protest against the convening of the legislature in special session. It will finish the work of formulating the document tonight. The petition will not attempt any reply to the famous "forty reasons" for consolidation advanced in the petition for the special session. It will pass them with the observation that they are not germane to the question of convening the legislature in extra session, and that the gentlemen who put forth the argument were either "shocking" or "misinformed" or "misrepresented the facts."

The announced purpose of the petition for the special session, it is declared, is a complete readjustment of the educational system of the state, and argues that such action should be taken only after the most mature deliberation. The petition will be circulated in all parts of the state promptly, for the governor has notified the people here that he will render his decision in the matter before long. It is probable that a committee of Republicans from this county will wait upon Governor Cutler and discuss the matter with him. Some of the signatures on the petition for the extra session created the greatest surprise here, but investigation today developed the fact that several prominent citizens, including the editor of the local paper, are among the signers. The document, did so merely to express their willingness for the convening of the legislature, voting at the same time, emphatic opposition to consolidation.

EUREKA GOING IN FORCE

Two Hundred Fans Will Accompany Team to Root at Park City.

(Special to The Herald.)
Eureka, Utah, July 27.—About 300 local fans will go to Park City next Sunday to see the local bunch play Park City. Reid will pitch in the first game for Eureka and the betting here is that Eureka will capture two straight games. The management and Captain Lumley are entirely satisfied with the team as it stands today, especially with their "inside" work. At the beginning of the season a good deal of trouble was experienced in securing a good pitching staff and the in-field was in a most unsatisfactory condition. Captain Lumley states now that there is no reason why Eureka should not be the winners of the pennant as all of these difficulties have been overcome.
